CORRECTIONS CENTER FOR WOMEN

FACT SHEET

ABOUT THE FACILITY

Custody Level:

- Minimum (MI2)

Population:

- 321 total capacity, 100 2023 YTD ADP

Mission Creek Corrections Center for Women (MCCCW) opened in 2005. It first opened in 1960 as a boy's youth camp on land leased from DNR. MCCCW is a minimum-security level female correctional facility. Programs and operations are structured around partnerships and practices that show sustainable reductions in incarcerated individuals returning to prison while also enhancing security for our facility and safety for communities across Washington. MCCCW has partnered with Amend for a full facility implementation of the contact officer program, normalization and dynamic security practices.

PROGRAMMING

- The Trades Related Apprentice Coach (TRAC) teaches valuable skills in the construction industry and draws many in the industry at graduation time
- Aerospace Joint Apprenticeship Committee (AJAC) trains the mid-sized manufacturing workforce as machinists, industrial maintenance technicians and tool and die makers
