AUDIT FINDINGS

NARRATIVE:

La Cole Archuletta, a certified PREA Auditor, and Jerri Worm who served as Support Staff, conducted a PREA Audit at the Bishop Lewis House Work Release on July 29 – 30, 2014.

Prior to the on-site audit, the Auditor reviewed the pre-audit questionnaire and documents provided by Bishop Lewis House Work Release (BLH) and conducted phone interviews with many employees from the Washington Department of Corrections (WDOC).

The Auditor toured BHL on July 29, 2014 and began interviews on-site with 20 employees and contractors and 9 residents on July 30, 2014. Additional documents were reviewed and requested throughout the audit.

David Gilkey is the Community Corrections Supervisor at BLH. Dominica Goode is the supervisor for the Pioneer Human Service Contractors. WDOC staff and contractors of the Pioneer Human Services work together to oversee the residents at BLH. Together there are twenty staff who work at BLH, six are WDOC employees and fourteen are contractors.

DESCRIPTION OF FACILITY CHARACTERISTICS:

Bishop Lewis House Work Release is located in Seattle, Washington (King County). BLH is a three story, 69-bed adult male work release facility that provides programming opportunities such as chemical dependency with a D.A.D.S. program. D.A.D.S. assists fathers with resources to help them develop a sense of self, family, and community responsibility through education, effective parenting, mentoring, and partnering. Residents also attend substance abuse programs such as Alcoholics Anonymous and Narcotic Anonymous meetings in the community. At the time of the audit BLH had 55 residents.

Sexual assault forensic medical exams are conducted off site at the Harborview Medical Center in Seattle, Washington.

WDOC amended several contracts with agencies that they contract with to confine residents. The contracts include an obligation for that agency to adopt and comply with the PREA standards. WDOC has developed contract shell language regarding PREA standard compliance to be included in every applicable contract with any entity contracted with to house offenders. Additionally, all current contracts have be revised or have revisions pending to include this language. It is the understanding that these entities have made substantive progress towards and will continue to work toward complete compliance with PREA standards.

Auditor comments, including corrective actions needed if does not meet standard

BLH staff and contractors do not conduct cross-gender strip searches or body cavity searches. During the tour and interviews with staff and residents, the policy to announce staff/contractors of opposite gender was made. BLH demonstrated compliance with this standard. Residents stated that they were able to shower and perform bodily functions without staff member/contractors of the opposite gender viewing them.

BLH staff and contractors said that they received training on how to perform pat searches. Training records indicated that security staff/contractors received the training. BLH staff/contractors stated that their policy and practice was not to conduct cross gender pat searches. The only exception is if there were an emergent situation and then it would be documented. According to BLH staff, there is always a male staff member/contractor on duty so no cross-gender pat search should ever take place.

The policy requires that a PREA risk assessment will be completed within 72 hours. WDOC residents who transfer from another WDOC prison already have received a risk assessment. However, once they arrive at BLH, they go through a screening to determine if there are changes. They are reassessed normally the same day as their arrival to the facility but policy is within 72 hours. BLH can house offenders from the King County Sheriffs Department. These residents receive an initial risk assessment within 72 hours of their arrival. Additional questions were added to the PREA checklist for work release facilities to ensure all standard criterion are assessed.
