Cedar Creek Corrections Center (CCCC) opened in 1954. The facility has a 479-bed capacity. The staff at CCCC recognize that the culture and success of the community begins with them. These correctional professionals work with a dedication to continuous improvement and a safe environment for the public, the incarcerated population and themselves.

CCCC partners with local schools, businesses and churches to collaborate on several community projects each year. Through their own fundraising events and with the assistance of staff, incarcerated individuals have donated to "Roof Community Service," St. Jude's Hospital, Littlerock Elementary School and the Boys & Girls Club. Additionally, staff have held food drives for local food banks, supported local non-profits such as the Rochester "ROOF" program and adopt-a-family during the holidays.
