Eleanor Chase House Reentry Center (ECHRC) is a 55 bed female facility that is operated by staff employed by the Department of Corrections (DOC) and contract staff employed by The Transition House, Incorporated. The average population age range is 18 to 65 years old with an average length in stay of 4 to 6 months but can extend to 12 months if the resident is part of the Graduated Reentry Program (GRE). During their stay at work release residents participate in creating a case plan that identifies areas to work on while at the program. This includes employment, engage in education and/or training programs, engaging in programs to include mental health and substance use disorder programs, and establishing positive support networks with family, friends, and the community. A DOC Community Corrections Officer is assigned to assist them, with case planning for successful transition to the community. Eleanor Chase offers in-house evidence-based programming, and has established relationships with community partners that provide; medical, mental health, dental, substance abuse treatment, and education.
